

Bird Of Prey

13 ENGINES

A simple calculation should be all that it takes
But all these complications have lead to your mistake
I'd make head from tails if I could put it into words
I can't be your doctor but tell me where does it hurt

Who cares when your eyes are closed
Black and white make grey
Who knows more than anyone
Why you are this way

There's a bird of prey, a small black speck in the sky
Something new is here, a shadow seen in the night
All these twists and turns
Have shaken something loose
There are no good reasons there won't be an excuse

Who cares when your eyes are closed
Black and white make grey
And who knows more than anyone
Why you are this way

There's a bird of prey, a small black speck in the sky
It's circle's getting smaller to make the perfect dive
