Here comes my darling Saying hello you Hey why you look so worried What's so wrong with you I felt something evil Lying in my room It makes me really scared Don't you feel it too

I know, it don't really matter Does it really matter If we go insane, my darling Do we always stick together Does it really matter If we go insane, my darling

You said you saw shooting On a market square Since when I have been dull To see blood in everywhere This time man was you uncle You wonder what went wrong He always looked so harmless walking

I know, it don't really matter Does it really matter If we go insane, my darling Do we always stick together Does it really matter If we go insane, my darling

Here comes my darling Saying hello you Hey why you look so worried What's so wrong with you I felt something evil Lying in my room It makes me really scared Don't you feel it too

I know, it don't really matter Does it really matter If we go insane, my darling Do we always stick together Does it really matter If we go insane, my darling
