

Easy For You To Say

5 Seconds of Summer

I see it in moments, it's coming in waves
The sunrise in Sydney that's burning for days
But I'm headstrong and stubborn and stuck in my ways
With every tomorrow, keep turning the page
A youth that was stolen and filled with mistakes
I turned all around, looked for someone to blame
But I'm over-dramatic and drenched in my pain
I know that she saw it all over my face

Last night, I lied
I looked you in the eyes
I'm scared to find
A piece of peace of mind
I swear to you
Each and every time
I'm trying to change my ways

[Chorus: Luke]

Easy for you to say
Harder for me to take
This nostalgia in my bones
Why can't I forget it?
Easy for you to say
Harder for me to take
This nostalgia in my bones
Why can't I forget it?
Easy for you to say

I feel it in moments, this semblance of real
Between all the gasping, I finally breathe
So I hold on so tightly in times that I see
Someone was striking a resemblance of me
A darkness that holds me and loves when I bleed
It locks all the doors and it hides all the keys
Need someone to show me what I couldn't see
A glimmer of hope that was staring at me

Last night, I lied
I looked you in the eyes
I'm scared to find
A piece of peace of mind
I swear to you
Each and every time
I'm trying to change my ways

Easy for you to say
Harder for me to take
This nostalgia in my bones
Why can't I forget it?
Easy for you to say
Harder for me to take
This nostalgia in my bones
Why can't I forget it?
Easy for you to say

This nostalgia in my bones
Why can't I forget it?