

Burst

A Life Divided

Come and try me, tell me your sins
Close your eyes and let go
Feel the shame that's creeping under your skin
I hope it's eating your soul

I want nothing but to tear it all down
All your pretty towers full of champagne
Cause I am nothing but a face in the crowd
Just a stranger in a world full of names

With every breath that you take
With every word that you say to me
You're about to burst
With every move that you make
With every lie that I can't believe
You're about to burst

I want nothing but to burn it all down
Better watch out when you get in my way
Cause I want nothing less breaking your crown
I don't wanna live on being your slave

With every breath that you take
With every truth that you fake
With every word that you say
You're about to burst
With every move that you make
With every lie that you pray
With every promise you break
You're about to burst