

The Most Beautiful Black

A Life Divided

See the black within the light
Look at the ruins of your life
There's no one who ever cared
There's no cross you didn't bear

Before there's nowhere to turn
And your little world burns
Look at the dark shading white
Because if it is not black it is no part of our life

The most beautiful black
The most beautiful black
The most beautiful black for me
The most beautiful, the most beautiful

The most beautiful black
The most beautiful black
The most beautiful black for me
Because if it is not black it is not part of our dream

Read the curse between the lines
Be reborn and crucified
Know the meaning of this world
Shout it out and stay unheard

Before there's nowhere to run
And your surrender undone
Stay on the dark side tonight
Because if it is not black it is no part of our life

And when bitterness revolving
In your orbit of despair, I see the light
And you feel as if the only way to go leads to the ground
I'm calling out your name
