I am impatient and hard to please.

No sense of serenity

Habitual neurosis transcends into thoughts of suicide.

And when this body lay lifeless, don't patronize me by insistin g this was all done because of you.

I am beyond redemption.

Even in death I will not speak.

I am beyond redemption.

Even in death I will not sleep.

With abandonment of trust and self.

Hope is void of longevity.

A shelter less recluse, I survive without reasion.

I sacrifice myself to the lonely other.

For she will not rest until Death's arms embrace me.
