

She Keeps Hoping

Acid House Kings

You're miserable and alone
Sitting on your own
Wasting time where you don't belong
Friends they call you up
Can never shut up
So much to say, so little to hear

But she keeps loving
And she keeps hoping
And though she's sorry for something she
She won't back down

Friendships are maintained
As they say that you're insane
Attention is yours. Now you're down on the floor
Open up when your heart breaks

That's a mistake
When you give out, your friends give up

But she keeps loving
And she keeps hoping
Though she's sorry for something she
She won't back down

Another day another night
Some people see you, some pass you by
Don't ask why
You'll get by

But she keeps loving
And she keeps hoping
Though she's sorry for something she
She won't back down
