

Where Have We Been

Acid House Kings

You remember summer, you remember fall
I have nothing left of that at all
When the lights on me
I will deflect my faults off on stars

Now it seems the two of us is nowhere
Caught between the devil and the sea
But sometimes it is like we're going somewhere
I try to go back time and time again
Where have we been?

I've been watching birds and I have been in bars
I've been places I know nothing of
One false move from me and then I'm going far to where you are

Now it seems the two of us is nowhere
Caught between the devil and the sea
But sometimes it is like we're going somewhere
I try to go back time and time again
Where have we been?
