The Infinite Divide

Across The Sun

Take one step back And look at yourself What you've become thus far Revel in all that's been accomplished

Start from scratch Concentrate on your instincts Let nothing done Need reprimandation

Go fourth and learn from your mistakes Represent all your strengths For human worth Is measured in their actions

Take pride in that Which means the most Prioritize your life Make peace with Everything that haunts you

What we've learned is to Forget all the information Through separation Focus now on the Ways to gain some inspiration Move on with pride

Accept nothing less Than the best possible result Reconstruct passion and honor Reconstruct your life You'll find yourself

We can never let ourselves (we can never) We can never let ourselves (we can never)

Be condemned We can (we can) Never (never) Let ourselves be condemned By the wretched dance That is hatred

Lock away swelling pain beneath And never look back