

Only The Man Has The World

Ador Dorath

I am asking...
I am asking about myself...
Aware of myself, aware of all the details
I experience and comprehend myself in my world

Self fulfillment accomplishes what express and develop the essence of my life
My world of experience and understanding
Opens the possibilities of thinking and introspection

I adolence to myself
In entire world
Distinct from others
Dependent on myself
Between me and the world
United in realizing myself with the Word

My life is completion of my purpose
... for me and for others

I inherit from myself but I have never been just inside
I concept the world to the interior of my consciousness
I face up to what is inside and what is outside
I ask and try to find an answer
What I am
What I want
What I am tend to be...

Amid things and people
Dependent on human society
Experiences are entering my notion of the world
I overcome myself
I inherit from myself
The intellect does not think, the will does not decide

Our world is an open world
We perforate and extend it's limits all the time...
We are free toward the environment open toward
Our world will never be done!
