

Race for Life

Ador Dorath

It is getting dark and the sun is going to sleep
When the hight steals in, the warmth leaves the Earth
You are standing on the edge and one step is enough
For your body to admitt your finality
Tens of reasons to do this are flashing on your mind
Tens of reasons and just one step
Stop and thinik...
Is this enough?
To be lost in dreams with birds for a while
Silence, fall... tranquillity
Open your eyes, take a look around
Look around and say...
... Is there any way to go back?

There is always a chance for you
The whole world is ablaze
With thousand colours and shades
You have never seen so much beauty
You have never comprehended
Never experienced

Grab your life in your hands
This is the right moment
A life was given to you, do not waste it
Thousands of people have never got this opportunity
To come so far and be able to decide

Don't loose your dreams, open your eyes
Life dooesn't wait, wait like death...

A chance to decide and go
A chance to find yourself and live your life
Life is rough from time to time
This one step makes it easier... ?
Open your eyes, take a look around
There are a plenty of ways
Plenty of ways to lead astray