

The Greatest Liar

Ador Dorath

I have always been frank with myself. I haven't seen this coming. I didn't want to deceive her. But as I had nothing to offer.

I have found myself caught up. I just try to see the things from their better side. Ashamed of life I lie a better existence. I have hid up the past to live brighter present.

I have never wanted to deceive him more. I have never wanted lying anymore.

I have never wanted to deceive her. Telling her lie. I have never been able. Telling her why. I never mind the precious delight. Lie tastes so sweet - truth will deceive.

I have found myself caught up. I just try to see the things from their better side. Ashamed of life I lie a better existence. I have hid up the past to live brighter present.

I tell the truth to deceive. Or was it a lie? A sweet little promise. Who can deny?

I have never wanted to deceive him more. I have never wanted lying anymore.

I tell the truth to deceive. Or was it a lie? A sweet little promise. Who can deny?