Know That I...

Alice Smith

You know that I feel love
You know that I'd give love every single day of my own design
The more that I try to the harder
To get through every single day of my own design,
Of my own design just to make you my love in the end

It's what's on the inside that keeps me from outside
Every single day of my own design
It's not that I lose faith; but what if it's too late?
Every single day just to make you mine and to keep you mine and

I know we'll find love in the end

Love in the end
So I'm lost and accept it
Is it something my heart did?
 Every single day just to make you mine and to keep you mine,
I know we will find love in the end
