I've got a regular problem So my standard break from life is in order I'm having trouble making sentences I'm older but I don't feel any smarter You see I don't know what I said to you And now you're pissed at you know who And I guess I deserve it I wish I could waste my time without wasting all your time I try to leave a good impression But it's hard when my obsession's in a wine glass And when you're only 23 It's not attractive to complain about your sore back Yes I can bitch until my eyes are blue And you're in bed with someone new And I quess you deserve him Wish I could waste my time without wasting all your time You say I'm fixable A classic case, lack of will I say I don't wanna try I'd rather stay here all night

I've got a motivation problem

So my standard break from life is getting longer

Spent over 30 hours in this bed

In two days, I guess I could've phoned her

But now that I'm awake

I'd rather take a drink

And walk down to the lake

And beg the sky for lightning bolts

I can't waste my time without wasting all your time

You say it's fixable

A classic case, lack of will

I say I don't wanna try

I'd rather sit here all night