

Keep It

All

you can keep everything that i gave to you. i dont want it anymore. and if you want everything that you gave to me you can back up the truck and fill it up with the broken pieces of my life . you hurt me all you could then you thought that i should come crawling back on bended knees. just because your bodys fine you think ive lost my mind. youd better think again if you expect me to put my heart in hiding everytime you walk out on me. you better keep it. keep it. so you remember. remember. the love we had. a love so sad. you can keep everything that i gave to you. i dont want it anymore. and if you want everything that you gave to me you can back up the truck and fill it up with the broken pieces of my life. you hurt me all you could then you thought that i should come crawling back on bended knees. just because your bodys fine you think ive lost my mind. youd better think again if you expect me to put my heart in hiding everytime you walk out on me. you better keep it. keep it. so you remember . remember. the love we had. a love so sad.
