

Long time no see. so tell me, how are things? just cause i was wondering-what ever became of you? you dont look well, cant hide it, i can tell. i know you love to hurt yourself. theres some things about you i wish i never knew. and i wish that i could say that we're happier today. sometimes theres just some things i dont want to have to know. dont you know me? has i been too long a time?werent you once a friend of mine? it gets so hard to tell. hoping gets lonely, im lonely all the time. but time and circumstance combined and every other someone else just helped you kill the pain you felt. and i wish that i could say that we're happier today. sometimes theres just some friends i just dont want to know. sometimes some things i dont want to know. sometimes some things i dont want to have to know. the real truth is it brings no peace to swallow lies that let me sleep. theres some things about you i wish i never knew. theres some things about you-sometimes i wish i never knew you at all. i stayed a stranger ever since i learned i cant depend on friends- if ignorance is innocence. theres some things about you i wish it wasn't true. and i wish that i could say that we're happier today. sometimes theres just some things i dont want to know. sometimes some things-i dont want to know. sometimes some things- i dont want to have to know.