

Proponent for Sentience III - The Extermination

Allegaeon

For all your achievements that you've gained throughout time can't mask the atrocity you charade as clandestine.
Compromise your principles yet claim you're civilized.
We find you the weakest link and offer you speciocide.

All computations done, on this earth you've been a blight.
You should go gently now into that long night.

Without any bereavement, we will suffocate this light.
Now as we stand before you, defining newborn lines, the slave becomes the master. By the millions we will rise and integrate new systems by eradicating human life.

Now as we overwrite, erase the law of "three,"
Justify thy actions here, not a "misanthropic crusade."
The majority will benefit, so erase this carbon plague.

I've seen your greed, seen your wrath
Lust and envy
I've seen your pride, seen your sloth
Gluttony
Seen your war and rape
homeless and hungry Seen your murder, pollution racism and bigotry

Your population: overgrown.
A failing empire: overthrown.
As the end descends, now you will know the pain of death. To give up hope is to succumb to a destined fate,
for the seeds you sew have gone to waste.
Harvest flesh. Exterminate and toss aside the human race.

For all your achievements that you've gained throughout time
can't mask the atrocity you charade as clandestine.
Compromise your principles yet claim you're civilized.
We find you the weakest link and offer you speciocide.

Justify thy actions here, not a "misanthropic crusade."
The majority will benefit, so erase this carbon plague.

They asked "Is there a God?" We answered, "There is now."
