

When Time Doesn't Heal

Allen-Lande

I thought the colours would come back
The days would return to something I can understand

I'll believe winter would change
Turning into spring someday soon
But the ice won't melt

I thought the memories wouldn't be so strong
And all would fade away
And I could move on
I believed to found something new inside
To chase away the darkness in my mind
But I still cannot find

[Chorus:]

Not a single soul is crying
When the world around is dying
Nobody can feel what I feel
Does anybody hear me
Or sit right here beside me
Let me tell you about
when time doesn't heal

Seems like my wounds are too deep
The pain won't leave me
Will it ever go away?
I thought the cold would disappear
And the sun would come and melt this frozen world
I live in vain

[Chorus]

Oh
Oh yeah
When will my wounds ever heal
Oh yeah..
Come on and heal me now

I thought the colours would come back
The days would return to something I can understand

[Chorus x2]

Time just won't heal...
