

New dawn...

Since you told me that you love me
I did everything you asked me
Now you're gone with the dawn
I keep on wondering, wondering, wondering all alone
I keep on struggling, struggling on my own

And I'm staring straight, staring straight
Staring into the rising sun
Yes I'm staring straight, staring straight
Waiting for the new dawn

And I wanted you to stay
But I was too proud to say it
Now I'm waiting for the day
For you to come across my way

All these hazy days over my head
This loneliness driving crazy
And memories of these happy days
Are feeding my disarray

And I wanted you to stay
But I was too proud to say it
Now I'm longing for the day
For you to come across my way

All the hazy days over I head
This loneliness driving me crazy
And memories of these happy days
Are healing my disarray

Staring, staring
Staring into the rising sun
Staring, staring
Waiting for the new dawn

Staring, staring
Staring into the rising sun
Staring, staring
Staring into the rising sun
Staring, staring
Waiting for the new dawn