20th Century

Alphaville

In the beginning There was no light No teenage heaven or hell No songs or voices came from across the outlands Where oceans are meant to be -- where oceans are meant to be Oh my God, I feel so alone -- some million lightyears far from home HOW ABOUT YOU LIVING IN THE 20TH CENTURY You can halt your car to get your tickets to the starlite skies , you know... Ev'rybody wants to come home (what a dream) So, if you don't mind, Will you join me? On my way through the eye up to the light Into the world...
