

Good Mystery

Amber Rubarth

Keep quiet, don't stop
That's when they'll start to think that they know you
That's when they'll pin you down and control you
That's when they'll make you say who you are
Walk steady, head straight
Like you can justify what you're doing
Like you're supposed to be in this room
Keep your coat closed, stay in the dark

Everybody loves a mystery
We love a good mystery
Everybody loves a mystery
How we love a good mystery

Forget those lies
They all believed you didn't know better
She tried to call your bluff, you wouldn't let her
Don't worry now, the evidence is gone
Play back, rewind
To when the light fell down on your shoulder
Everyone smiled and echoes swept over
Whispering saints from ceilings built high

Everybody loves a mystery
We love a good mystery
Everybody loves a mystery
How we love a good mystery

If you can climb up above the clouds
The pressure drops and the heat's blocked out
And the air's so thin
That your breath caves in
And your heart beats loud

Everybody loves a mystery
We love a good mystery
Everybody loves a mystery
How we love a good mystery
