

Good Morning

Amber Run

Oh, you can feel like a light in the dark
And oh, like the wheel that's discovered by chance

And you know that you should, that you could,
But you wouldn't
Make me feel like a child

And you break and you cry but you carry on
You know the world seems wild

But if you run like a child and act like a child
Honestly, what's there to worry about
And if you run like a child and act like a child
Honestly, what's there to worry about

Oh, you can feel like a fish out of water
Oh, like the world's come to rest on your shoulder

And you know that you should, that you could,
But you wouldn't
Let everything fall

And you know that these lonely games that you're playing
You know they're not games at all

But if you run like a child and act like a child
Honestly, what's there to worry about
And if you run like a child and act like a child
Honestly, what's there to worry about

Oh, you got to get up
You got to be running wild
Cuz it's a good morning
Oh, it's a good morning

Oh, the sun is up
You got to be running wild
Cuz it's a good morning
Oh, it's a good morning

Oh, you got to get up
You got to be running wild
Cuz it's a good morning
Oh, it's a good morning

Oh, the sun is up
You got to be running wild
Cuz it's a good morning
Oh, it's a good morning

Oh, you got to get up
You got to be running wild
Cuz it's a good morning

Oh, the sun is up
You got to be running wild

Cuz it's a good morning

Oh, you got to get up
You got to be running wild
