

Who Needs A Song

American Aquarium

I've spent half my life on a highway
A million miles beneath my feet
I've seen the bright lights of New York City
I've seen the emptiest of small town streets

Yeah I've missed my share of birthdays
Livin' in a hotel room
Where "I love you" is just a phone call
And "I'm sorry" is an "I'll be home real soon"

Who needs the road if I got you, babe?
How long can you be a rollin' stone?
Who needs the road if I got you, babe?
The only thing I need right now is home
Who needs the road, anyway?

I've never been good with ultimatums
It always ends with "It's me or the road"
Yet I'm still surprised to come home every time
And have to reap the seeds that I've sown

Who needs a song if I got you, babe?
We're never gonna be the Rollin' Stones
Who needs a song if I got you, babe?
The only thing I need right now is home
Who needs a song, anyway?

I'll never have the fame or the fortune
I'll never drive a fancy car
And I'll never be one of the cool kids
Playin' songs that make the girls dance at the bar

Who needs those things if I got you, babe?
Who needs a cover of the Rollin' Stones?
Who needs those things if I got you, babe?
The only thing I need right now is home
Who needs those things, anyway?
