It's Your Birthday

American Music Club

The eyes of the world see what they want to see People always boil things down to nothing They're gonna see your love as worthless and wrong The eyes of the world leave you with nothing It's your birthday baby Here's a gift you should take it It's your birthday baby Here's a gift you should unwrap it There's still a few drinks between you and closing time You break her heart, you'll break your own Are you afraid that all her roads led right to you Are you afraid that all your roads led right to her It's your birthday baby Here's a gift you should take it It's your birthday baby Here's a gift you should unwrap it It's your birthday baby Here's some luck you should grab it It's your birthday baby Here's a smile you should unwrap it No matter how long you stay with her, you know she loves you You could make her pain, count for something Even though she hasn't been a girl for very long Her heart is beautiful, beautiful and strong It's your birthday baby Here's a gift you should take it It's your birthday baby Here's a gift you should unwrap it It's your birthday baby Here's some luck you should grab it It's your birthday baby Here's a smile you should unwrap it It's your birthday, it's your birthday It's your birthday, it's your birthday
