

Always The Winner

Amy Grant

Always the winner, baby
You're always the center, baby
But don't you ever get lonely at night
When the clouds have gone away

It's always
You're showing her the lady
Always the lady
You're full of
Yourself, you know
Gone crazy

There was a time when you cared for their hearts
And the need to show them love was tearing you apart

But you changed, you know
Become the star of the show
Now you've got nothing to give
Where is the truth you once lived

You're just lonely
Don't you feel lonely

Turn out the spotlight, I'm tired, turn out the spotlight
My mind will die, lord, I'm crying

Oh, I'm to turn my gaze back, lord, to you
You're the only one who knows me
Just mold me back to you
