Always The Winner

Amy Grant

Always the winner, baby You're always the center, baby But don't you ever get lonely at night When the clouds have gone away

It's always
You're showing her the lady
Always the lady
You're full of
Yourself, you know
Gone crazy

There was a time when you cared for their hearts

And the need to show them love was tearing you apart

But you changed, you know
Become the star of the show
Now you've got nothing to give
Where is the truth you once lived

You're just lonely Don't you feel lonely

Turn out the spotlight, I'm tired, turn out the spotlight My mind will die, lord, I'm crying

Oh, I'm to turn my gaze back, lord, to you You're the only one who knows me Just mold me back to you
