

Course of Life

Andre Matos

Northern lights dance in the air
Nature paints its scenes
Haunting the winter sky
The wild is so vast,
The air quiet and still
Today a new sun will rise

We'll be together when the time come around
We'll save our prayers and never say farewell
Far becomes close;
Scary, divine
A sudden blaze reveals the course of life

I walk in the night
Counting the stars, in silence
With tears in my eyes
But I'll never surrender

We'll be together when the time come around
We'll save our prayers and never say farewell
Nothing to fear,
Nowhere to hide
Nobody escapes the course of life
