

I Belong

Andrew Allen

I, never knew your name,
I never thought to blame my problems on you
So why, are you in my photographs,
The ones that form my past, and now my future?

Did we make love, did we love hard, do we still have, those faded scars?

'Cause I belong, like something in the water
But the current's strong, and you're on the other side
Don't be long, making a raft to save me from myself
Please take me home... back where I belong

Just drive, won't you take the back road,
It's longer but it's peaceful, out there
And I, I'm sorry I forget you,
You can cry I'll let you hold my hand

Did we find love, and did we smile, do we still have, another mile...

'Cause I belong, like something in the water
But the current's strong, and you're on the other side
Don't be long, making a raft to save me from myself
Please take me home... back where I belong

Where the wind blows, and the first snow
Never comes till December
And the big tree, with the red leaves
Baby I remember
And the rope swing, with the song that
We can sing together

Oooo...

'Cause I belong, like something in the water
But the current's too strong, and you're on the other side
It took too long, making a raft to save me from myself
But now I'm home... right where I belong
Right where I belong
