

Hard To Believe

Andy Davis

Someone said your name,
It felt the same and I will not forget the pictures
flooded in my head.
It was hard to walk away,
And I would change the way that it would end,
But love you the same way I did.

It's following us around; bean dip
The cold reality of having to say it's over now.

Hard to believe, hard to believe
What happened to you happened to me, and
I don't know if we can ever tell
If it's harder for us to move on or to believe that it's gone.

And those streets will never live,
Will never get the chance to see those dreams
Scattered like birds at our feet.
And stars wouldn't cross,
Just got lost like songs I'd sing to you,
Feeling more like familiar tunes.

Passing like strangers now;
Across these memories of saying it'll all work out.

But oh, hard to believe, hard to believe
What happened to you happened to me.
I don't know if we can ever tell,
Harder for us to move on or to believe that it's gone.

Feel like it was yesterday,
Wonder if we'd stay the same.
Keep leaving and I don't know why,
Saying our last goodbyes.

Hard to believe, hard to believe
It happened to you, it happened to me.
I don't know if we can ever tell,
Harder for us to move on or to believe that it's gone.
