

Catcher of My Dreams

Anette Olzon

Do you see them creeping in
How they get inside your mind at night?
All the monstrous - Looking fears
All the scenes you tried to hide and disguise
Silent crying terrorized
Frozen limbs all paralyzed can't fight

Who can give the strength I really need?
Who can save my soul for me?
Who can be the maker of the walls
That keep me safe at night?
The catcher of my dreams

I lay my head down close my eyes
And the terror of the night arise
Darkness fade all hope of light
As they slowly start to terrorize
Fail to see the other end
Incapable to loose the chains

Who can give the strength I really need?
Who can save my soul for me?
Who can be the maker of the walls
That keep me safe at night?
The catcher of my dreams

I feel them coming closer
There's no way to get out from it
Where is the rescue that I seek from you

Who can give the strength I really need?
Who can save my soul for me?
Who can be the maker of the walls
That keep me safe at night?

Who can give the strength I really need?
Who can save my soul for me?
Who can be the maker of the walls
That keep me safe at night?
The catcher of my dreams
