

Holding You

Animation

I go about my work like it was all a piece of cake
And I'm so confident about the moves I make
From morning until nightfall
You won't see me take a break

From all a parent sees I'm doing very well
But in my mind some days it's like I've gone through hell
And you're the only person in my mind that I could tell

Come let me hold you near in the middle of the night
I need to have you here to make everything all right
Holding you
Holding you

The morning comes again and I jump back in the race
I walk out my front door with a smile upon my face
A night with you's like having all my batteries replaced

Come let me hold you near in the middle of the night
I need to have you here to make everything all right
Holding you
Holding you
Holding you

Come let me hold you near in the middle of the night
I need to have you here to make everything all right
'Cause when you put your arms around me, you take away my fear
No place I'd rather be than to lie with you my dear
Holding you
Holding you
Holding you

Holding you
Holding you
Holding you
Holding you

Holding you
Holding you
Holding you
Holding you
