

I'll Be Your Eyes

Anne Murray

You close your eyes
The sky falls
I watch you build invisible walls
When you believe that the world has lost its heart
No one can blame you for falling apart
Have faith

I'll be your eyes
When you can't see the light
When your tears blind your sight
Like a candle I'll show the way
I'll be your eyes

When the truth's hard to find
When your heart cheats your mind
When the dream dies
I'll be your eyes

After all, you're flesh and blood
And when you fall, hold onto love
All of your life you've been strong, you've been proud
A lonely island apart from the crowd
Have faith
I'll be your eyes

When you can't see the light
When your tears blind your sight
Like a candle I'll show the way
I'll be your eyes

When the truth's hard to find
When your heart cheats your mind
When the dream dies
I'll be your eyes

I'll be your eyes
When you can't see the light
When your tears blind your sight
Like a candle I will show the way
I'll be your eyes

When the truth's hard to find
When your heart cheats your mind
When the dream dies
I'll be your eyes
I'll be your eyes