

Let Your Heart Do the Talking

Anne Murray

Tell me what I could say you never heard before
I'm just a kiss away from coming back for more
Please don't be shy with me, don't have to lie to me
To open up the door to everything and more

Let your heart do the talking
And I believe everything you say
Let your heart do the talking
Don't let your hand getting in the way
Let your eyes tell me lies
And let your arms push me away
But let your heart do the talking
And I'll believe everything you say

Don't have to say a word 'cause baby I can see
I like everything I've heard from the way you look at me
And I wanna be there where you fall in love again
And close again from here and I'm still listening

Let your heart do the talking
And I believe everything you say
Let your heart do the talking
Don't let your hand getting in the way
Let your eyes tell me lies
And let your arms push me away
But let your heart do the talking
And I'll believe everything you say
