

Bonfire of the Millennials

Annisokay

You threw me on the fire
You threw me on the fire

And your generation dines
But the next one pays the bill
And you've thrown them on the fire
To take the edge out of the chill

And you let the planet die
Oh, the future has been raped
And you've thrown us on the fire
To brighten up the flames

This is the bonfire of the millennials
This is the bonfire of the millennials

You always told me that
That I should think about the future
As you threw it on the fire
You always told me that
That I should think about the future
And then you threw it on the fire

You threw me on the fire
You threw me on the fire

You baby boomers built
Cities out of greed
To take at gunpoint
More than you need
When money becomes the god
And wealth becomes religion
A human sacrifice
Is one of the conditions

This is the bonfire of the millennials
This is the bonfire of the millennials

You always told me that
That I should think about the future
As you threw it on the fire
You always told me that
That I should think about the future
And then you threw it on the fire

You threw it on the fire
You threw me on the fire
It'll never be enough for you
It'll never be enough for you

You always told me that
That I should think about the future
As you threw it on the fire
You always told me that
That I should think about the future
And then you threw it on the fire

You threw me on the fire
You threw me on the fire
You threw me on the fire
You threw me on the fire