

Overload

Annisokay

You're tired of controlling
Your brain it's overloading
Tired of all blessings
That everybody's passing
You're trying to fight the feeling
That life it has no meaning
You're terrified of failing
Of being the dropout everyone's blaming

Come on, come on, and fight it
Come on, come on, and fight it

Come on, come on, and fight it
I can't keep hiding myself
It's too complicated
Come on, come on and face it
No chance there's no way for me
To stop this overload

To stop this overload
To stop this overload
To stop this overload
To stop this overload

The thermostat is rising
All your knuckles whitening
You're tired of restraining
The demons you've been taming
The picture frame is golden
The colors overloading
You're bleeding, screaming from within
While everybody's watching

Come on, come on, and fight it
I can't keep hiding myself
It's too complicated
Come on, come on and face it
No chance there's no way for me
To stop this overload

To stop this overload
To stop this overload
To stop this overload
To stop this overload

This picture is colorless
I've had enough
No need to impress
No need to dive
This picture is colorless
I've had enough
No need to impress
I feel alive now

Come on, come on, and fight it
I can't keep hiding myself
It's too complicated

Come on, come on and face it
No chance there's no way for me
To stop this

To stop this
To stop this overload