

Sanctuary

Anthony Phillips

How I want you, how I want your loving, girl
How I want your pretty smile
Through the winter nights, and the long, long summer days
I drift and dream of you all the while

And if you ever find yourself so lonely
And if you're at the end of the line
You can find my sanctuary waiting
Don't worry, girl, I won't let on

How I want you, how I want your loving, girl
Your sentimental sighs and stares
You can be like day; you can drive me crazy
I'm walking and a think away

Don't worry girl I won't let on

No I won't let on; just take my sanctuary
No I won't let on; just take my sanctuary
Won't you give me your heart?
