Dialogue

Antifreeze

I've tried To find a good reason to smile Found only heartbreak I need to find Someone I can trust, now Just hold tight, Friends and lovers aren't always easy to find I'm not blind Maybe I should walk away You can't let everything in life just bring you down No I can't live like this. Just say the word and I'll just walk away. So tired, Of everything falling apart I guess that's how it goes I can't reply, I don't expect you to, now. You can't make this everything You don't understand me at all.