

Still Sitting Tight

Apologies, I Have None

It's all I can do to pull myself together but we just fall back in Nothing ever changed and you just can't put a line under this It's so hard to start again when you put so much in the first time but we just do it and it's alright because we've got the boot packed up tonight

My fingers itch and my heart holds steady there's so much to connect and that's why it feels impossible to rest but it's alright because we've got the boot packed up tonight.