

Second Skin

Arco

always this - same and different always this - taken given and never thought of change still the song remains

if i'm gonna shed the second skin
i've always worn
think it's gonna be the strangest thing i've ever done

but holding on - to some past present is holding back - and future isn't made for those who wait better never than late

if i'm gonna shed the second skin
i've always worn
think it's gonna be the hardest thing
i've ever done

and still the shame to come restrains hold me in these gentle arms until this chance has gone