

Know Where

Ari Hest

Stayin' in like the weatherman said
Don't like it so cold
Thawin' out by the radiator
Watchin' the day grow old

Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now?
Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now?

I'll think of something I guess
Something is bound to unfold
Faces I may never see again
My world is gathering mold

Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now?
Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go, and where you wanna go now?

To the white of the water, it will beckon you
To the light left over and burn for you
Through the night and you'll grow colder
And come back round again, round again, round again

Time swarms like pollen in spring
Follows you where the wind blows
Stands still when you want it to run and when you hesitate it goes

Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now?
Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now

Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now?
Do you know where you are, know where you are
And where you wanna go now...
