

Middle Man

Ari Hest

Smoking a pipe rocking in chair the middle man
Plotting the ways he's going to interfere
Permanent smile black in the eyes and onto you
All the moments of joy unwillingly disappear

Holding you down, building you up
Holding you down forever
Holding you down, building you up
Holding you down forever

He is the sound you hear
As the train rolls in
The daggers in your ear
The unforgiving ring
You try to stay calm
Draw in a breath of sanity
Try to believe that
This isn't happening

Holding you down, building you up
Holding you down forever
Holding you down, building you up
Holding you down forever

Listen closely, take it to heart
Hate to tear your plans apart but Don't resist just let the poison in
I've got a message here
Stick it in your file
No matter what you do
It will be worth his while

Holding you down, building you up
Holding you down forever
Holding you down, building you up
Holding you down forever