

Lion of Amphipolis

Arrayan Path

There she stands in ruins, lost and forgotten
Upon the gates of fear, eternally guarding

Fear the lion standing tall
Protecting walls and grounds and sanitariums
Generals gather, see their plot
Another war that must be fought

Is there hope for humanity, is humanity our hope?
The taste of ambrosia before I die
I'll carry it on to my lips in Hades when I die

The silent tears of the Gods fall down from the sky
I will be dust and I'll die here in Amphipolis
My land

Now the tomb revealed, I wonder who lies here
Is the King of Kings, the emperor who died here?

The sensation, realization
Or his personal damnation
Cursed city, cursed land
Crying for a long lost son and

There's hope for humanity, with humanity comes hope
The taste of ambrosia before I die
I'll carry it on to my lips in Hades when I die

The silent tears of the Gods fall down from the sky
I will be dust and I'll die here in Amphipolis
It's my land

Lion you have been here forever
A moment to forgive me
For all that I have done to you
This city will rise and rise again one day
To reach the stars, it is foretold

The silent tears of the Gods fall down from the sky
I will be dust and I'll die here in Amphipolis
Necropolis, my land
