

The Marble Gates to Apeiron

Arrayan Path

I'm standing over the sea
Fear is clouding my thoughts of my children depending on me
And though it is what it is
And our time on this Earth is fading to zero

Silence bring out the violence of my soul
To devour the men, over again
No use for this planet, it's come to an end
Out into space, that's where we need to go

The Marble gates
A million pathways lead to Apeiron
Another war, another marble gate
Your only road to find the dawn

Beyond the Moon is now where our hearts will start to grow
As we leave this dying planet we've made uninhabitable
Another dimension we've come to the end of creation
A cosmic illusion that finally ceases to breathe
Existence (a universe so damp and cold)
Existence (creation, a human revolt)
(Energy, DNA, Energy, DNA)

The Marble gates
An ancient signal out to Apeiron
Another war, another marble gate
Your only road to find the dawn

Fairytales, is beyond the stars where myths are born?

All the ancient ones knew
Who came from the stars
Will this be my new home? I don't understand
Will I breathe there? Will I see the old Gods?

The Marble gates
The speed of 5 billion knots to Apeiron
Another war, another marble gate
Your only road to find the dawn
The Marble gates
An ancient signal out to Apeiron
Another war, another marble gate
Your only road to find the dawn

The Keeper that lies beyond the gates
It leads to mystic chambers
It leads to a far and distant place
Where all the ancients died
The darkness that hides inside their graves
From the dawn of all creation
Reveals again the entities
The ones we call our Gods