

Everything Must Go

Artist vs. Poet

Concrete handprints on the ground,
Hard to believe they're so much smaller than ours now
Sat in my dad's old Cadillac
Remembering the first time I heard Fleetwood Mac
And the pain behind
My mother's eyes
She said everything must go
Your comic books, dinosaurs, and GI Joe's
Close that white picket fence
The one you miss when you're not home
She said everything must go
I read her letter by the bed
My heart is broke she's better off alone instead
I never thought it'd end like this
You'll fall in love to box it up and start again
The pain behind
My lover's eyes
She said everything must go
Your favorite hat, photographs, and all your clothes
Close that white picket fence
The one you'll miss when you're alone
She said everything must go
Oooh
Aaah
She said everything must go
So drink and dance
Love and laugh
Kiss the girl
Nothing can last forever
But we're all on the same road
She said everything must go
She said everything must go
So drink and dance
Love and laugh
Kiss the girl
Nothing can last forever
But we're all on the same road
She said everything must go
She said everything must go
So drink and dance
Love and laugh and
Kiss the girl
