

Interlude

Atlantic Starr

Lord, oh, how we hope there will come a time
When we as brothers will learn to love each other
And the world could be a special place in the universe
That it was meant to be