

So Long Euphoria

Audrey Horne

You seem to remember my name now
You seem to remember my face
We, we have been fighting for years now
We wasted our years and our blood

So long, euphoria
You've been a treasure in our lives
We let the vultures in
To pick the bones of this affair
A thousand years from now
We'll lick our wounds and say goodbye
So long, euphoria
We set the table with sharp knives

We seem to be wasting away now
Dust covers the traces we left
Still, still I feel safer around you
When we feed on each others fear

So long, euphoria
You've been a treasure in our lives
We let the vultures in
To pick the bones of this affair
A thousand years from now
We'll lick our wounds and say goodbye
So long, euphoria
We set the table with sharp knives

So long, euphoria
You've been a treasure in our lives
We let the vultures in
To pick the bones of this affair
A thousand years from now
We'll lick our wounds and say goodbye
So long, euphoria
We set the table with sharp knives
