Your face
It changes my sight
I see how you've been
I can't tell if this is right
It been a long time to wait for me

The last sign on the wall was strange
It made me feel drunk and sad

Flashed out
Your eyes drop and unwind for Angela Vickers
Your conscience is lightweight like mine
Your heartbeat just flickers

Another catatonic birthday cake
You can't go back and blow the past in place
Getting free put so much in our way

The last sign on the wall was strange
It made me feel drunk and sad
