At A Distance

Autumn Tears

Burning water fills my breath Your kisses steal, each whisper Between every thread of life How gently death pierces me Yet it mean nothing at all And it's so quiet now...

Shhh...

And I fell from your touch And I withered and wisped away Although my eyes are gone I still see you at a distance