

Life is Death, Death is Life

Azarath

Intoxicated with almighty powers
Drunken by peoples' tremor and fright
Immersed in the inner infinity I am
Forked out by Trisula stirring my mind

Spitting on the mob of profane
as We spit of parasites' god's Golgotha grave
Strengthened by their fear and misgiving
Soaked in blood and dust, wearing crown of remains

Holding the skull of a burned body, rejected, yet chosen
I'm the one to solve knots of life & death!

To die while still alive - renounce the world completely!
To die while still alive - eliminate all (involuntary) senses!
To die while still alive - extinguish all (thoughts of) dualities!
To die while still alive - offer yourself into the fire!

Ghastly, repulsive, revolting
As chewing the unholy communion - human flesh
United with the Universe to summon
Lost atoms, lost thoughts, lost spells

In emptiness I trust, the Ritual I command
By the fist of Blasphemy - Mystery I will witness
Consume, absorb & Invoke!

Cup-skull will be drained of soul, elixirs and dread
I raise my right arm - bottoms up! "But my left hand is empty,
For I have crushed an universe; & nought remains"

To die while still alive - renounce the world completely!
To die while still alive - eliminate all (involuntary) senses!
To die while still alive - extinguish all (thoughts of) dualities!
To die while still alive - do rituals as if you've died!
You have died-to the world. Life is death-death is life!
To die while still alive - offer yourself into the fire!
