Basshunter

I remember the days, you are my life
I remember the days, I'm sorry for everything

I remember the days when I had no hope I remember the mornings when I didn't get up There are so many things that I'd like to do You are my life, it should have been you

I'm trying to do what I've been told
But I think too much of what I can hold
Baby, let me explain, I want you to stay
I'm sorry for everything, please don't walk away

Pump up the volume

I want to hold you, I want to touch your skin Hearing you breathe
Those simple things are carrying me on

And now I know why you're leaving Open my door tonight Give me some time to set things right Don't leave me tonight

I remember the days when I had no hope I remember the mornings when I didn't get up There are so many things that I'd like to do You are my life, it should have been you

I'm trying to do what I've been told
But I think too much of what I can hold
Baby, let me explain, I want you to stay
I'm sorry for everything, please don't walk away

Pump up the volume

Don't walk away Don't walk away